Field Team – The front line of Floridians for Freedom

Thanks for joining the Floridians for Freedom field team. As a member of the field team, you are the most important person in our organization. You are the face people who sign the petition will remember. No matter what else is said, your first impression is key.

There are loads of places where you can lawfully collect signatures. The rule of thumb is to recognize the difference between private and public events. If you decide to attend a public meeting like a city council meeting or town hall, just be respectful. At libraries, if you let the main librarian know what you are doing, they will give you clear boundaries on where you can stand. Just remember be polite. If you are on private property it is entirely up to the property owner whether or not to allow you to collect signatures.

First time petition gathers should consider joining a group. You can check the calendar online for an event happening near you. By joining a group, you can learn tricks about approaching strangers.

Remember, we are most effective as a witness to people we know. Consider collecting signatures from your immediate circle of friends, neighbors or people who are members of your clubs and social groups.

If you are ready to go it alone at a public venue. We have the tools you need.

Quick Tips

Know your audience. If you are going to a cannabis friendly event pot leaves may be appropriate. If you're attending a political meeting, town hall or membership meeting, the leaf may not be appropriate. Remember, you are our face in the community.

Know the venue. If you are going to be outside, think ahead, bring plenty of water, sunscreen and plan how to keep supplies under control in case of wind or wet weather.

Set a goal. Having a goal for the day helps you decide how many petitions you need to print and what supplies to bring. Rubber bands for your clip boards, a stay dry container for signed petitions and plenty of ink pens are always a good idea!
